IT'S HERE IN THIS PROVINCE

And we believe it is right here in this district, so get busy farmers and 'dig it up'—it's worth the trouble both from the intrinsic value, of the prize offered and from the advertisement to be delivered. We're referring to the $500.00 Silver Cup, offered by the C. P. R. for the best half bushel of hard spring wheat exhibited at the "Soil Products Exhibition" to be held at Kansas City, Mo. October 10 to 24 next. This competition is open to the world, except Germany, but this competition don't scare us with our knowledge of previous experience in growing hard wheat in this district. The best in the world is here produced, and we believe that half-bushel and more of it if they want it, is here this year in this particular district because while crops are generally short the quality is there and we would like to see this much coveted award brought to southern Alberta and to this district in particular if the grade is here, and it is here if you will only "dig it up" and show it at this exhibition. The other provinces of Canada are after it and last year Manitoba captured not only the prize for wheat but also for oats, barley and rye. So get busy. Look over your year wheat and submit your sample at this show and if possible, bring back this prize to Alberta and put wheat and submit your sample on the map.

CANADA BEATS ALL RECORDS IN SHIPBUILDING

Ottawa, Sept. 25.—Canada has again smashed all records for speed that characterizes the work of the best artists in high-class Vandellville. All of the material used by this company, with the exception of some of the vocal numbers, is entirely original. It was written by Mr. and Mrs. Elias Day and Mr. Waters for the use of this company. This eliminated all danger of triteness and introduced the elements of newness and surprise which so delight an audience.

Mr. Waters gives two character sketches. The first "The Possum Trot Town Council" in which he impersonates the dear old clerk, reading the minutes; the mayor who is local undertaker and can't forget it; the town "constable," who "ketches 'em with his bare hands; the old, retired farmer who is "agin" everything and even "agin" that, and the pastor of the village, church, who desires peace and a right to his place on top of the fence. The discussion as to whether or not to place the gasoline lamps on the Main Street, while written for fun, brings out boldly certain local types, and has lessons for the Canadian community. All characters are given in make-up which is put on with skill and precision. The sketch moves rapidly and naturally to a laughable conclusion. Mr. Waters also impersonates an old Texas Colonel, a confederate veteran, whom circumstances compel to take a long sea voyage, on a German ship just prior to the present war.

MUTINY OF YOUNG HUNS

Amsterdam, Sept. 23.—A large number of German recruits, mostly boys 15 years of age, refused to train for the front at Aix-la-Chapelle, according to Les Nouvelles, which says that the soldiers were ordered to fire on the mutineers, of whom eight were killed and many wounded. It is stated by the newspaper that the remainder of the mutineers recruits were then driven into their train like cattle, but they were firing from the windows of the cars as the train moved out of the station.

RALLY DAY SERVICE

Where? In the Methodist Church. When? Next Sunday morning. At what hour? Eleven o'clock. A very interesting programme has been prepared, in which most of the boys and girls will take part, some of them, a very prominent part. The pastor will give a brief address. If you appreciate the work which the Sunday school is seeming to do then try to be present next Sunday morning. An offering will be taken for the work of the General Board of Sunday Schools, and Young People's Societies of the Methodist Church. The amount given will be credited to the Sunday School and count as a part of their giving to Connexional Funds.

I. O. E. NOTES

The Daughters of the Empire are again asking the farmers to give a sheaf of wheat, as they take their loads to the elevators. Each elevator provides a small bin or sack in which this sheaf may be deposited as the load passes through, and the Committee, asks that every farmer will be generous enough to give, and to authorize the men hauling for them to do the same. The proceeds will go as before.

EDLUND & FRASER

through the Red Cross to the maintenance of our Prisoners of War in Germany. As the number of prisoners far exceeds that of last year, our efforts must be greater to support them. Unless extra food is sent them, they stand in dire starvation.

As this notice is a little late some farmers may have already hauled a good deal of their wheat, perhaps they would like to make a small donation.

From last crop the Committee collected $125.23 which included some generous donations from farmers, who preferred to give in that way.

Donations will be thankfully received and acknowledged by any member of the Wheat Committee. Mrs. C. Leeds, Mrs. A. H. Tovell, Mrs. Gardiner, Mrs. Sharples, Mrs. Lewis, or by the Treasurer of the I. O. O. F. M. F. W. Elliott.

WARD WATERS COMPANY

While one should be loath to use adjectives, perhaps the program of this company can best be described as "unique." The combination of a "make-up" entertainer and two lady musicians makes possible a program not only different but unusual in that it appeals to all ages and classes of audience. When the program was formed the difficulty was not the usual dearth of material, but how to crowd the number Mr. Day wanted them to use in the compass of a Lyceum entertainment. This condition brought about two things, an unusually long program, and the necessity of that snap and dash on the part of the members of the company that characterizes the work of the best artists in high-class Vandellville. All of the material used by this company, with the exception of some of the vocal numbers, is entirely original. It was written by Mr. and Mrs. Elias Day and Mr. Waters for the use of this company. This eliminated all danger of triteness and introduced the elements of newness and surprise which so delight an audience.

Mr. Waters gives two character sketches. The first "The Possum Trot Town Council" in which he impersonates the dear old clerk, reading the minutes; the mayor who is local undertaker and can't forget it; the town "constable," who "ketches 'em with his bare hands; the old, retired farmer who is "agin" everything and even "agin" that, and the pastor of the village, church, who desires peace and a right to his place on top of the fence. The discussion as to whether or not to place the gasoline lamps on the Main Street, while written for fun, brings out boldly certain local types, and has lessons for the Canadian community. All characters are given in make-up which is put on with skill and precision. The sketch moves rapidly and naturally to a laughable conclusion. Mr. Waters also impersonates an old Texas Colonel, a confederate veteran, whom circumstances compel to take a long sea voyage, on a German ship just prior to the present war.

Mrs. Waters is peculiarly fitted to sing child songs and prattle the kind of little folks whom all of us laugh at and love. She also whistles making possible the whistling duets by Mr. Waters and herself. Her dramatic experience makes her valuable in the final sketch offered by the company.

Miss Edna Falk, among others, will use a group of Spanish songs in costumes that add to the attractiveness of the program. She plays most of the accompaniments and introduces much of the music that adds to the effectiveness of the final sketch.

As a finale the company presents a little play with music in which Mr. Waters impersonates an American Veteran of the Mexican and Civil Wars, on his ninetieth birthday. Miss Falk his grand-daughter and Mrs. Waters his grand-daughter. When Mrs. Oranthe Truitt Day wrote this sketch for the company she wrote a gem. It brought tears and laughter and tears wherever it has been presented.

This will be the first of the series of entertainments on the Lyceum course, and will be given in the I. O. O. F. Hall on Tuesday evening, October 22.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Those who do not fight must save. Saving brings its own reward compounded.

The man who saves for his country helps himself.

A dollar saved over here helps the boys "over there."

Self-denial must take the form of money-saving thrift.

Patches in wartime are often an evidence of patriotism.

Don't administer your finances on the cometary, gossamer plan. Save.

Parsimony to promote your country's welfare is now a virtue; indeed, it is expected of you.

There are many people who praise God from whom all blessing flow and then proceed to waste them.

The measure of your love of freedom is your willingness to deny yourself so that the strength of the nation for war effort will be increased.

Liquor in barrels labelled "saw-krout" and shipped into Toronto was expected later than the adoption of a Hun name for the stuff.

The Teutonic people have built up a great military machine and are trained and forced to deny themselves in the allied nations; the denial is left largely to the individuals.

It is for every one of us to say how much patriotic endeavor, how much loyal sacrifice we will make by saving our money, by "doing without," so that each day will see a surplus to add to our own and the nation's strength.

According to a statement from the German general staff the St. Mihiel salient was evacuated voluntarily. If that statement is correct, where did the thousands of prisoners taken by the Americans come from? Hun preparations are less clever than earlier in the war.

For advertising purposes this year is regarded as any Southern Alberta ever had. A country that can raise 20 million bushels of wheat and crops, where good farming methods have been practised, in a year when moisture was almost negligible, is one worth while talking about.

Every time you buy a thing you do not need you interfere with Canada's war work. Every dollar you spend on things not strictly necessary is a dollar not merely wasted but used to supply labor on things that have nothing to do with our efforts to win the war for freedom.

Fuel Administrator Garfield says that unless conservation is practised the reserve supply of gasoline will be a million barrels short by the end of the year. In that event the choice is not whether to riding will be stopped, but whether it will be given up voluntarily or stopped under orders.

Too much of the time of Canadian workmen is being purchased by us to make things that are show and piece. Too great a quantity of material that our soldiers could effectively use against the foe, goes into the making of superfluous things for us, whom they are so valiantly defending.

In Germany they are talking of what they will do with Belgium. Unless the common people of the Allied countries are betrayed by their rulers we can tell them what they will do with Belgium. They are going to be kicked out and they are going to leave nothing but the stink of their rotting carcasses and a memory as foul as hell.

The "solid gold" cup that Kaiser Wilhelm gave as a prize for the ocean race of 1905 was turned over to the winner, an American, to the Red Cross to be sold, and it then appeared that the magnificent "five thousand dollar trophy" was made of pewter with a thin gold washing upon its surface. If Wilhelm could have foreseen the future, he might for his own credit have given a more genuine prize; but as it stands the cup is an excellent symbol of the imperial donor—brilliant and showy in the surface, but base metal within.

GIVE YOUR COUNTRY A LEG UP—SAVE!

Canadian patriotism demands the practice of thrift, by all her sons. The men who are holding the lines at home are they who are making it easy for the business of the country to go on with little fear to its mechanism. The steady pulling of the rope of all citizens in the production of goods and in the conservation of all field crops marks the thrifty nation. Saving on the part of our citizens is going to be the greatest insurance we will have in Canada against a period of depression after the war. The combined capital of the individuals who make the country will form a fund of sufficient power to drive business, along in a most satisfying way in spite of the prevailing hard times of such a period.

The saving man is therefore a real patriot. He has Canada's interests fundamentally at heart. May his tribute increase in these days when wealth is piling up under the spur of war-time efforts. Save because it hits both ways. It is a high form of patriotism. And it gives our country a leg up in a critical time. Put by that extra dollar now. The long procession of thrifty dollars will make a line that will not waver—Hindenburg or his Hindenburg.

BONDS MUST BE EXEMPT, SAYS THE GOVERNMENT

The suggestion which has been put forward and given wide publicity that an unlimited taxable, 3 1/2 per cent. of Victory bonds should be put out for the purpose of raising the funds required for the government during the coming year and for refunding at a previous certain outstanding war loans, amounting to many hundreds of millions of dollars, is regarded by the finance department as quite impracticable. It would, in the opinion of the minister, inevitably fail to raise the immense sum of money which will be required for the prosecution of the war and the establishment of further imperial credits for the purchase of wheat, foodstuffs and munitions in Canada. Assuming its success, as possible, it would create a vast body of securities which by reason of being out of conformity with investment conditions, would speedily go upon our narrow markets to a heavy discount, causing dissatisfaction among subscribers and necessitating the payment of much higher interest rate upon succeeding issues.

The exemption from taxation has always been a most important factor in enabling the government to float their war loans for the amounts necessary for their war finance and at lower rates of interest than they would otherwise have been obliged to pay. The volume of loans has much to do with price and other terms of issue. The larger the volume, the greater must be the attraction of the securities if their market value is to be maintained and the way paved for further successful issues. The government has to deal with conditions, not with theories, it is explained.

SAVE GASOLINE

Many people do not yet fully realize the necessity of saving gasoline, nor comprehend the full aggregate effect of individual saving. Mr. Hallett, agent here for Imperial Oil Ltd., has received the following very pointed letter from his company. If you are an auto owner it will do you good to read it.

"Dear Sir:—As you know, the subject of conservation of gasoline is beginning to be very prominent at the present time. You have no doubt read considerable of this during the last few days and we are drawing this to your attention as it affects us very directly. We wish to emphasize very strongly the policy of conservation, in every way possible, the use of gasoline and we would ask you, in your daily conversation, to try and educate every user of gasoline to the conservation of this commodity."

"For your information, the United States Government has promised 750,000 barrels of gasoline a month to our Allies in Europe, in order to go on 'Over There.' We in Canada, have not really felt any effects of this as yet, but as you will notice by the Press reports, the Fuel Controller has asked the general public to curtail the use of gasoline voluntarily, and intimates that if it is not done voluntarily they will have to use coercion measures."

"As you no doubt know, there are upwards of 30,000 automobiles in the province of Alberta, and if each automobile is not used on Sunday, this will save at least two gallons of gasoline per Sunday, amounting to 60,000 gallons or 1,500 barrels, which as you will realize, is a considerable quantity in handling oil, is a very considerable quantity and is certainly worth striving for in this campaign of winning the war."

"We wish you would interview all your customers, including garage owners, dealers and engine owners, in fact all users of gasoline, to try and save every gallon they possibly can. This not only means shutting out the automobile on Sundays, or any time when they can get along without them, but also in handling gasoline in the most careful way to prevent wastage and leakage. This applies to yourself as well as your customers."

"We wish you would enter into the spirit of this conservation to the fullest extent."

AMERICANS AT THE GERMAN FRONTIER

The second major operation in which the American forces in France have been concerned has resulted as successfully as the first. In the first—St. Mihiel salient—they acted in cooperation with much larger French force and under American generalship. There was no fault to be found with their courage, discipline, direction or persistence in the first great attack. There is, it is possible, less in the second. Two thousand prisoners and more than 100 guns taken is tangible evidence of victory; clean and complete—so far as victory in any one or two days' fighting can be clean or complete in this war. As a great fighting force, strong in numbers and material of war, as well as in every quality that makes a winning army, the Americans—to borrow an expression from the French—have arrived.

The St. Mihiel salient had been established by the German army under the Crown Prince at the beginning of the war. In their first rush across the frontier they had attempted to envelop the French border fortresses of Verdun. While the main part of the German armies were north of Verdun, the Crown Prince was given the honor of taking the fortress. The left flank of his advance reached St. Mihiel on the river Meuse, about twenty miles south of Verdun on the same river. Between St. Mihiel and Verdun his line was bent back from the southeast, east, north and northeast, fronts to the fortress, although not closely approached by the German lines, access by the French armies to Verdun was only clear on a broad southwestern front from the city by holding St. Mihiel the Germans cut Verdun off from the use of St. Mihiel as a base for their advance, and from use of the railway which, following the river and passing through St. Mihiel, connected Verdun with the fortress of Nancy and the Meuse.

The southerly portion of France.

Naturally the holding of the salient was a tremendous military advantage to the Germans and a corresponding disadvantage to the French. In the earlier part of the war the French made many attempts to retake the salient without success. There was high, broken, forested ground around St. Mihiel which was easily defended and for many months it has not been attacked. The southeast angle of the salient rests on the Moselle river about the point at which it crosses the boundary between France and Germany. Only twelve miles further down stream towards the north is the great German fortress of Metz. The south side of the salient lies east and west with a length of twenty-five miles from the Moselle to the Meuse. Its northwest angle is a few miles from Verdun and near the Meuse. The removal of this standing threat to Verdun, this perpetual menace to the heart of France that had stood unshaken for four years, almost under the guns of the great fortress of Metz, is an event whose significance can scarcely be overrated, whether considered as a relief to the French situation, a proof of the fighting ability of the American forces, or an evidence that Germany is at last feeling the strain of war, as she has hitherto given no evidence of doing. In every way it is a famous victory and may well open the way for an Allied offensive on German soil. At Pargy the Americans are on the German border.

VALUE OF TANKS

Amsterdam, Sept. 23.—The Frankfort Zeitung's correspondent telegraphs the following under date of Sept. 18: "The Franco-American attack on St. Mihiel is now seen to have been a carefully planned undertaking of considerable magnitude. The number of attacking motor divisions is not yet known for certain, but we know that our losses in prisoners were, due to extensive use by the enemy of the tanks. More than 1,000 armored cars of all sizes participated. One of our divisions counted in its sector alone 40 large and 40 small tanks. Troops who held out stoutly in their positions are always liable to be surrounded by this mobile army."

Hard pecunia is now made successfully in Ohio. Before the war Germany and Austria had a practical monopoly of it.

President Wilson's income tax on his 1918 salary will be $24,000, or the new revenue bill introduced in the house.

C. Rompala returned from Montana last week where he spent two weeks climbing mountains with his Gray Dori. He claims to have travelled a thousand miles, rolled down a mountain side, and climbed the steepest hills in the Rockies without having a fire puncture or scratching his car. Good for the Gray Dori.

Mr. Godley, chairman of the electric light committee of the town council, informs us that it is the intention to start a morning service of the electric lights on October 1st. This is two weeks earlier than has been customary, but under the present "daylight saving" system the night's darkness lasts too far into the day to do without lights any longer.

We wish to call the attention of our subscribers to the fact that in acquiring the business of the Review-Advertiser we took over the subscription list just as it stands, therefore, all subscriptions, both current and those in arrears, are payable to the new proprietor. We find that there are a number of subscribers somewhat in arrears. We would greatly appreciate it if these were paid up now. It would help us with the expense of filling out the terms of those paid in advance.

Major G. H. Schoof is reported to have had a scrap with a wild cat in the Rockies. The major missed his aim and came to a hand to hand fight which finally ended in a draw. The following night the wolves hung around his tent making the night hideous with their howls, and waiting for him to give up the fight. But the major wouldn't do it and held on as tenaciously to life as he did when Villa was on his track. The next morning a cloud of dust marked his track for home where, he arrived last Tuesday, wearing a few scratches but still smiling.

STORY OF BRITISH IN MESO-
TAMIA FIELD

The following is a summary of a dispatch received from Lieutenant General Marshall, who took over command of the Mesopotamian expeditionary force after the death of General Maude in November, 1917.

General Marshall first deals with the situation when General Maude was still in command.

The latter's dispatch had carried the story of events at the commencement of the period of the present dispatch this force was opposed on the north bank of the Tigris, while the British were entrenched in the Taurus, and the left bank was secured at Ramadi. At the beginning of October it was decided to clear the Turks from the left bank of the Tigris, and occupy the Jebel Hamrin. These operations were successful, though the Turks escaped annihilation by the British. All our objectives were gained and a position astride the Tigris, General Marshall alludes to the great amount of work necessary to insure a perfect system of communication with the forward area. Six canals had to be bridged. Seventy-five bridges were built in this area alone, and the Jebel Hamrin, which had been an occupation was a roadless tangle of hills, was gradually pierced by a very difficult and convenient number of roads.

"While these operations were in progress the 18th Turkish army corps was sent to the Taurus, and a demonstration against our troops on that line, and in the middle of October, the 20th Turkish army corps, consisting of eight miles north of Samarra. General Maude decided to attack them, but they could dig in. The British cavalry brigade drove them back to Takti with a loss of 2,000 men and the remainder of the corps were destroyed. After the conclusion of these successful operations the bulk of our troops withdrew to the Taurus.

"On November 19, the army in Mesopotamia received the news of the death from cholera of our beloved and revered chief, General Maude, at Sir Stanley Maude. His genius had altered the whole face of affairs in Mesopotamia; he had taken over an army whose morale had been severely tried by their failure to effect the relief of Kut, who had been sapped by a very trying climate, but in a few months by his hard work and great gifts of organization, clear-headed determination, and above all, by his intense sympathy with and love for his soldiers, a very different state of affairs came into being. When he considered that all was perfectly ready, and not before, he moved, and from that time the force never looked back. When therefore, I had the honor of being appointed as his successor, the morale of the army was magnificent.

"Towards the end of November I decided to attack that part of the Turkish army which was entrenched on the Taurus, and the Diale river above Masruya, the passes over the Jebel Hamrin and Kara Takti. These operations were entrusted to Lieutenant-General Sir H. Egerton, who, an independent force of cavalry under Major-General J. C. Jones was ordered to demonstrate up the Adhaim river and prevent strong reinforcements being brought down against our attacking force, from the line Tuz Kermati-Kirkuk. Valuable assistance was also given by a Russian detachment under Lieutenant Colonel Bicharkov. These operations which included the forcing of the passages of two rivers and two passes were completely successful. The Salukian and Abu Zenbil passes were held, and a bridgehead established at Klati below the advanced troops which had driven the Turks headlong through Kirkuk, captured prisoners and booty were as usual, withdrawn. "On December 9, Khankin was occupied and the communications in that area improved."

General Marshall then turns to events on the Euphrates. "Ramadi had been captured in September, and were occupied in consolidating the forward positions and in establishing a system of security against the surrounding tribes." Several bridges were thrown across the river.

"During December and January it was evident that the Turks were being reinforced, the bulk of their troops being near Hiri, and as their numbers grew they were pushing down stream as far as Uqab and Nafata. I accordingly issued orders to Major-General Sir H. T. Brudenell, commanding the 18th Turkish army, to capture Hiri, and his position as soon as his communications were cut off from the state of the ground permitted.

The advance began on February 19. The Turkish main position was found to be just above Hiri, behind a depression known as Broad Wadi, while two-thirds of his troops were 18 miles further up stream at Salahiya. On the 20th, the Turks began to retreat, being badly mauled by our aeroplanes in the process. "Hiri was occupied, on the 21st, and Salahiya on the 22nd. The enemy's orders to drive the enemy as far as possible from Hiri, and to inflict all possible damage on him, were carried out. The British mobile troops, including a cavalry brigade and light armored troops, were ordered to Hiri, and instructions to move by night and conceal themselves by day so that the enemy might think that no further advance was intended. In many other ways, efforts apparently successful, were made to deceive the Turks as to our intentions.

"On the 26th the plan of operations was to make an attack in strength against the enemy's left, and to send the cavalry and armored cars round his right flank. The Turks were, however, discovered to be retreating from Hiri. "On the 27th, the cavalry, after a long and difficult march, gained the Aleppo road 11:30 p.m., and cut off the enemy's retreat by night. About 11:30 p.m. the Turks launched a heavy attack on the British, but were repulsed, but were completely repulsed with the loss of 1,000 prisoners."

"With the arrival of the infantry, the British were able to capture many prisoners were taken, and the pursuit carried on for 73 miles up the Taurus, and the enemy was demoralized. The commander and the staff of the 5th division were captured with 1,000 men, including German 12 guns and great quantities of other material.

"The complete success of this operation was attributable to the masterly way in which the force was handled by Major-General Sir H. T. Brudenell, who was very complete preparation arrangements."

"This closes the record of serious fighting in the period, though General Marshall alludes to many punitive and other raids. He alludes at some length to political trouble which occurred at the Holy City of Nedjef, where troops were fired on and the political officer, Captain Marshall, murdered. "I immediately ordered a blockade of the town until all those implicated in the trouble were given up, and surrounded it by a cordon of military police joined by barbed wire. While I am prepared to go to extreme measures, if necessary, in order to exact reparation for so foul a deed, I feel confident that by blockade methods I shall cause all delinquents to be given up."

Otherwise the political condition of the whole area has been excellent, and great economic strides have everywhere been made. General Marshall finishes by warm tributes to all the services under his command. "The high standard of efficiency displayed by all ranks of the medical service, has been most gratifying to me, and reflects great credit on Surgeon-General Blankenship, my director of medical services. The health of the force has shown marked improvement as compared with the corresponding months of 1916-17. The standard of comfort and efficiency of the hospitals is most satisfactory."

ROMANOFFS WERE BURNED

London, Sept. 24.—The former Russian empress and three princesses and two grand duchesses, whose names are not reported, were burned to death about a month after the Russian emperor was shot, according to a story reaching London. The source of the story is given consideration in some quarters and an investigation is being started.

After the former emperor was killed, the women were taken to an isolated village, according to the present report, made prisoners in residence. They were there only a few days when a crowd of Bolsheviks attacked the house and the house was set fire. All the persons in the house perished.

There have been various reports as to the fate of the former empress of Russia and her daughters. A London newspaper on September 15, reported that she, and her four daughters had been murdered by the Bolsheviks. This report was denied a few days later by the Bolshevik foreign minister.

GERMANS ENTIRELY ON THE DEFENSIVE

The Germans are carrying out halfhearted attacks and are making a bombardment of the Franco-American lines. Even challenges by the Germans are being ignored by the French, who are waiting for a conflict is inevitable.

TROOP TRAIN AND FREIGHT IN HEAD-ON

Springfield, Mo., Sept. 15.—Wrecking crews of the St. Louis and Price roads were working this morning to recover additional bodies of soldiers killed last night when a troop train and a freight train met in a head-on collision near Marshall, Mo., 20 miles northeast of Springfield. The exact number of dead was unknown, but 11 bodies were found. Many passengers at Marshall and it was believed that at least six, and perhaps seven, were still in the wreckage. Fifty of the more seriously wounded are in Springfield hospitals.

KILLED ON RAIL RIG AT SETTLER

Settler, Alta., Sept. 15.—Chas. Dugger, while working on a well-drilling machine was accidentally killed this morning. He climbed up on the derrick to oil the machinery when a set screw in the large wheel caught his coat, winding him around the derrick. His arm and neck were broken before the engine could be stopped.

His brother, who lives in Riverview, Wash., is making the funeral arrangements.

It is just one week ago that the owner of this well-drilling outfit accidentally killed himself while hunting ducks.

REWARD FOR PREMIER'S STOLEN AUTO

Edmonton, Sept. 17.—The sum of $100 has been offered by the attorney general's department for the recovery of Premier Stewart's automobile which was stolen from its front of McDougall church Wednesday night. The reward was stated Wednesday night while the Premier's family were inside listening to the lecture by Dr. Henri Beland.

BULGARIA STARVING

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 23.—Released from military prison in Bulgaria, several British soldiers, including a Canadian, have written a letter in a very weakened condition. It was apparent their sufferings had been more severe than those of Allied prisoners in Germany and Austria.

One of the officers, in speaking of the treatment he received declared that he would never become civilized and Europeanized. He said the country was beginning to starve owing to the exploitation of foodstuffs for Germany. In Sofia, a dinner costs 100 francs ($20), a pair of shoes 400 francs ($80), and a suit of clothes 1,000 francs ($200).

Throughout Bulgaria, he added, food was scarce, the dominating German is increasing.

SEED GRAIN TO BE SUPPLIED

Edmonton, Sept. 21.—Plans are completed, whereby seed grain will be distributed to every prairie and provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan as required, and whereby those farmers unable to pay for seed on credit may, by able to secure it on a credit basis. These plans only await confirmation of the provincial government.

This is the word brought by Hon. C. R. Mitchell, provincial treasurer, who has returned from a conference in Saskatchewan on this subject. At the conference were Hon. Duncanson, the minister of the Interior, and J. W. Grenaway of the interior department. Mitchell said that until the plan for the distribution of seed grain, and the arrangements regarding the securing of it, were completed, the cash was presented to the government for approval, a formal statement of the seed grain would be given out, but the seed would be distributed wherever needed regardless of the ability of the farmers to pay or otherwise.

The aim, Mr. Mitchell explained, would be to assist in the work of getting as large an acreage under crop as possible.

"We really," said Mr. Mitchell, "the necessity of a large acreage for next year, and this fact was considered carefully in all the plans laid at the same time there will be no waste of seed, and the business of distributing it will be put on as good a basis as possible, from a financial standpoint."

The treasurer was asked if the government of the province would co-operate with the Dominion in the work of distribution. Explaining that the Dominion government was helping in every way it could, he explained that the detailed work of distribution and other matters pertaining to seed, rested with the provincial government.

A corresponding plan has been arranged for both Saskatchewan and Alberta. Mr. Mitchell added, and this will be submitted for approval as soon as possible. A formal statement of the details will then be issued.

At the conference in Regina, it was estimated by Saskatchewan officials that 75 per cent. of the area of the province, could supply their own needs. The Alberta representatives did not venture an estimate of the Alberta fields.

CAPTURED HIS FATHER

How an American private took his own prisoner during the war is told by an American Red Cross worker, who was in the thick of it. He writes: "Some American soldiers were rounding up a pocket of German soldiers in a clump of woods when a group of about twenty of them suddenly appeared with their hands over their heads in token of surrender. Several of the Americans were killed, and some prisoners were taken. The first of the Americans, a strapping young fellow from the middle west, suddenly recognized one of the prisoners as his own father, a middle aged man of German birth, who had been back in Germany on a visit at the outbreak of the war and had been drafted into the German army. It was an affecting meeting.

The father was inclined to let him out of patience with his father for being mixed up with such bad company, and it was almost ludicrous to the father explaining to him much regarding that he had never wanted to take up arms for Germany, but had been forced into it, against his will. They marched off arm-in-arm, but the boy showed good discipline, and duly delivered his father as a prisoner at one of the cages behind the lines."

COOK AT PEACE RIVER SUICIDES

Peace River, Alta., Sept. 16.—Philip Slick, cook on a section gang here, aged about 34, committed suicide here, a 3 o'clock Sunday morning in the Alberta rooms, by taking carbolic acid. The deceased was a Pole, and his wife resided at Bonanza. His wife reports that he was enamored with a woman but he was having sufficient money to marry took this means of ending his life. The coroner's inquest is being held today.

MATCH STARTS $62,000 FIRE

Montreal, Sept. 12.—A small boy with a match started a fire in the east end of Montreal Thursday morning that resulted in $62,000 damage, of which $25,000 is covered by insurance. The chief loser will be the dry-goods firm of T. Cakes, 709 St. Catharines street, east.

CORRESPONDENCE

Clareholm, Alta., Sept. 23, 1918

Dear Sir,

I noticed in your issue last week an article, which should be of great value to the community by the people of Clareholm, and district. "Speaking of Trading at home." I'm sure every one will agree that it is the only method in which we can expect our country to prosper. Do you think our business people give, as they should, in the amount of money at home? "I am sure you will say, "I think not." They charge us four prices for every thing we need. I am not satisfied with a reasonable profit they must double, and redouble for a profit. They just steal from us what they are not entitled to, seems strange how they keep their places as well as the province. They are people as church officials, and they do not believe in the commandments. Here is an example that happened last week. I stepped into a store and asked the price of potatoes the reply was five cents a pound. I asked for a quart, and he said, "I have no other store, four and a half cents. I can't, can have a different price for a quart, but the third, seven cents a quart. I was told. Some strange

"A BROADWAY SCANDAL"

David Kendall and his father ran a private sanitarium and hospital in which the dead of night a young French girl, Ninette, Blomson is brought with a bullet wound in the shoulder. The circumstance is suspicious, but young Kendall, who is usually intelligent, does not report to the police. As she recovers, Ninette falls in love with the handsome son-in-law, and he would have fallen in love with her except that he had a notion that all French women are shallow, unconventional and not to be taken seriously. When Ninette discovers that Kendall's attentions have no matrimonial intent she is heart-broken, and returns to her father's home and continues dancing in his cafe, in spite of the efforts of several theatrical managers who have seen her. Kendall pursues her, she is arrested but not sentenced. The director causes her father to drive her from her home and she goes on the stage. Kendall volunteers for medical service at the front, where there are scenes of valor and wonderful devotion of French women he learns the respect the lack of which had caused bitterness in two lives. The above feature is to be shown at the Rex Theatre on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 27 and 28.

WEDDINGS

HUNTER - CROOKS

A very pretty wedding was held at the beautiful little log church at Millerville on Tuesday, Sept. 17th, at 12:30 p.m. When Private Gilbert Hunter, of Claresholm, was married to Miss Ethel Crooks, also of Claresholm. The ceremony was carried out in the English style.

Private Hunter in khaki, was attended by Private Andrew McKay, in khaki, as best man. The bride looked very charming dressed in white embroidered French voile, with ruff and veil, carried a bouquet of white carnations. The gift of the bridegroom, attended by Miss Trixie Walton, dressed in white embroidered muslin and wearing a ruff of pink roses, as bridesmaid, while Master Ivan Walton, in a white Oliver Twist suit acted as page.

The bride was given away by Mr. J. H. Walton. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at Holman Ranch, Mrs. P. H. Walton acting as hostess, dressed in a very pretty blue chiffon dress, and assisted by Mrs. McArthur, in black silk. There were about twenty guests present including Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hunter, of Claresholm, brother of the groom.

The newly wedded couple received a number of valuable presents. A pleasant afternoon was spent with music and songs, when the happy couple left for Banff to spend a honeymoon before Pte. Hunter rejoins his regiment.

WIELY - MCPAIL

The marriage of Miss Dolly McPhail, the fourth daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. McPhail, of Nanton, to Mr. George Wiley, of Calgary, took place at the house of the bride's sister, Mrs. T. F. Langham, at Claresholm, on Thursday, Sept. 19th. Rev. A. C. Bryan, formerly of Nanton, but now of Tabor, officiating.

The bride was gowned in white crepe-de-chine embroidered in self braid and wore a bridal veil caught up with orange, blossoms, and carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations. Miss Rheta McPhail, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid and wore a dress of apricot crepe-de-chine with satin band, and carried pink carnations. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. J. W. Wiley.

The bride was given away by her father, Mr. D. L. McPhail. Miss H. Simpson played the wedding march and was accompanied, for Miss Katie McKinnis, niece of the bride, who sang "Oh Promise Me."

The house throughout was beautifully decorated with potted plants, ferns, vases and cut flowers, and the bridal party stood under an arch of ferns and flowers during the ceremony.

About forty guests sat down to a splendid wedding dinner, relatives and intimate friends being those present.

The wedding gifts were beautiful and numerous, several silver and cut glass being among them. Mr. and Mrs. Wiley are at home on their farm four miles from Calgary.

COUNCIL MEETING

At the regular meeting of the town council held on the 19th, Dr. McMillan was appointed medical health officer for the town.

C. H. Wilson was appointed as special police constable. This action was considered advisable on account of a number of the town's fires having been unlawfully set recently.

Farmers are Stopping the Profit-Eating Leaks this Year

Comparatively few farmers fall or lose heavily because of misfortune such as fire, wind or drought. The majority of failures and losses are from combined little leaks, and it is the many little leaks that are being stopped and stopped.

HERE ARE SOME OF THEM—Feeding Wastes, Diseases from Unsanitary Buildings, Unprotected Machinery. There are others but here are enough to kill the profits on any farm.

THE REMEDY—Concrete Grinary Foundations and Floors, Concrete Barns and Hog House Floors, a Machine Shed. None of them are expensive and each will quickly pay for itself. Call and let us give you prices.
